INTRODUCTION

King Fahd University of Petroleum & Minerals (KFUPM) is one of the leading educational organizations in the region and beyond.

It is driven by the vision of being a preeminent institution known for its globally competitive graduates, cutting edge research, and leadership in energy discoveries.

With a commitment to make a difference in all that it does, KFUPM offers a variety of programs in many interdisciplinary fields to more than 10,000 students studying in its seven distinguished Academic Colleges.

The rapid growth of KFUPM reflects the growing expectations of the people of Saudi Arabia and the expanding opportunities for the country's youth.

The University has strived to ensure that through quality research & education, the leaders of tomorrow are prepared, today.

In the time since its inception six decades ago, KFUPM has always sought to be at the leading edge of research across all its facilities.

However, the cost of providing such facilities tends to increase annually. To this end, the KFUPM Fund was established in 2007 to allow the University to bridge the gap and cater to the next generation of leaders.

A key role of the KFUPM Fund is collaborating with the University's Colleges, Research Centers and Departments to advance the University's mission and continue the legacy of excellence in the fields of education, research and innovation.
